Havilland Willshire

One of our favourite pianists returns to perform for us once again. He starts with one of the last of the great Schubert Piano Sonatas in four movements (No 20 in A Major D959). After the Interval he resumes with a rarely played pair of Chopin Nocturnes (Op 62), of which No1 (played second here) is an acknowledged masterpiece. His concluding piece is an early Piano Sonata (No. 1 in C minor, Op. 8) by Szymanowski in 4 movements, which is full of great tunes & romantic gestures.

Lauren Scott (Harp) and Anna-Clare Monk (Soprano)

A new soprano and harp duo, formed in 2012, brings Lauren back to us with her beautiful harp music. This time she will be sharing the spotlight with Anna-Clare's enchanting singing. Their repertoire spans both old and new music; ranging from Purcell and Dowland to the award-winning modern composer Andy Scott.

Sophie Rosa (Violin) + Nicholas Oliver (Piano)

Sophie (who lives in Cuddington) is one of Britain's most exciting young violinists and is already gaining quite an international reputation. As well as broadcasting live on BBC Radio 3 and Classic fm, she has also recently given a recital at the Bridgewater Hall in Manchester.

Dolby & Hughes (Piano Duo)

Back by popular demand after their very exciting 4-handed concert in May 2012. This time they will offer an "Invitation to the Dance" including such delights as Saint-Saens' Danse Macabre, Ravel's Bolero, some Tchaikovsky ballet music, and Weber's Invitation to the Dance.
